

What's YOUR Regis Story?

Josh Meier, RC '09 ~ Accounting major

During Orientation Weekend, Josh saw a flyer advertising a class titled Career Options and Your Future. With no declared major and no specific career in mind, he signed up for the course hoping to find his “perfect career.”

“The class easily fulfilled its promise of helping students discover their career interests and it impacted my entire college experience,” he says.

Taught by a professional in the Career Services department, the class encouraged students to register with CareerLink, a website resource that matches internship and job openings to users’ specific criteria, and emphasized the importance of establishing a strong network. His efforts, coupled with the support of Regis University resources, resulted in many interviews and several job offers including one from the accounting firm where he completed a summer internship.

Now as a professional working with the accounting firm, Zarlengo Raub LLP, Josh is even more grateful for what Regis offered to him as a student. In addition to receiving a strong education in accounting, he attended networking events, participated in academic, service and extra curricular activities, and fulfilled an internship.

“Regis was more than just a place to earn my bachelor’s degree,” he notes. “It was a home and a safe haven where I could explore my interests and grow as an individual in ways I could never imagine when I first arrived.”
