

Research assistance. Although the Regis Dayton Memorial Library in Denver is over 700 miles away, it is still your primary library. The library databases available for your use are selected specifically to support Regis programs. Remember that even though many Regis resources will be available electronically over the internet, we are also available to help you by phone, e-mail or online chat. We can help you locate facts, refine research strategies, focus topics, select appropriate databases or other resources, gain remote access to electronic databases, and interpret research results.

Ask Us! – Click on Ask Us! on any of the library web pages to chat, e-mail, or contact a librarian for assistance.

Where to start?

- Regis Library provides access to over 130 databases that include thousands of full-text journals.
- Start with the Regis Library home page, <http://www.regis.edu/library>.
- Click on Research by Subject under Research. On the next page, you can select the research guide for your subject area. These guides include links to databases, library catalogs, recommended web sites, and citation information.

Interactive library tutorials. There are several tutorials available to help you use library resources more effectively. The tutorials are interactive, and include audio, video and closed captioning. On the library web page, first click on Research Tutorials. The following are some of the tutorials you'll find under the 5 steps to get started link:

- Library Introduction tells you about some of the helpful yet frequently missed features of our web site.
- Searching the ERIC database demonstrates search strategies that can be used in ERIC as well as many other databases.
- Accessing Full-Text Resources Online helps demystify using Article Linker to find full-text articles.
- Interlibrary Loan gives you the lowdown on making interlibrary loan requests.

Library databases and Article Linker ("Check for full text")

- Many databases such as Academic Search Premier, Business Source Premier and ERIC provide direct links to full-text articles, but in some cases you'll see a Check for full text link. When you click on this link, an Article Linker screen will open.
- Article Linker indicates whether or not you have access to a particular article or journal in one of the Regis online databases, or if Regis subscribes to the journal in a non-electronic format.
- Articles that are not available full text can be ordered by clicking on the Interlibrary Loan Login link.

Citing journal articles from full-text databases

Consult with your course instructor to make sure you are using the correct citation style. On the library web page, click on Handouts and Guides to find examples of citing information correctly in APA, MLA and other formats.

Will Regis Library send materials to Las Vegas?

- Yes! Make your request using the Request articles and books link located under Services on the library web page, or Interlibrary Loan from the library Quick Links.
- Use your RegisNET username and password to create your Interlibrary Loan profile.
- Your request must be for specific materials with full citations.
- Can be used to request materials from Regis library, or materials from other libraries through Interlibrary Loan.
- We will send the books and articles you request—articles are usually delivered electronically to your Interlibrary Loan account.

What are the best options for finding books?

- Local libraries may have some of the books you need. Both of Regis's partner libraries (listed below) will allow you to check out books; the CSN Libraries will get books from UNLV for you through interlibrary loan.
- Use WorldCat, located on the Regis Library A-Z Database List, under Library Quick Links.
- We will cover the postage getting the books to you; you will need to mail them back to us.

What library services are available for teaching faculty?

- Real-time library instruction for your class using Adobe Connect.
- Electronic Reserves (link on library web page).
- Consultation on library assignments that require library research.
- Collaboration in online course development.
- Handouts designed for individual classes or research needs.
- Online two-week library skills workshop, The Faculty-Library Connection.
- For more information, see the Services for Faculty link on the library web page.

Which libraries in the Las Vegas area will be the most helpful?

Regis has cooperative agreements with two local libraries that will allow you to: use the internet for access to databases, check out books, make use of their facilities, and receive reference assistance. When you're asking for assistance, make sure you identify yourself as a Regis student.
