

Consortium Student Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy for Financial Aid Eligibility
(Non-consortium students please refer to the general Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy.)

INTRODUCTION

Pursuant to state and federal regulations, the following constitutes Regis University’s policy on Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) for consortium students seeking financial aid. This policy supersedes previous policies and is effective immediately. This policy is separate from the policies established by each College within Regis University for measuring academic progress and in some cases may be the same as or stricter than the academic standards outlined in the Regis University catalog. Students should contact the Financial Aid office with questions regarding this policy.

The Regis University Consortium Student Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy applies to students with a consortium agreement seeking to establish or maintain financial aid eligibility. A consortium student is defined as a student who has an active consortium agreement for the current semester and Regis University is the home institution. The standards apply to a student's entire degree program including terms in which financial aid was not applied for or disbursed.

The following chart defines how each type of grade and academic credit is treated in this policy.

SAP COMPONENTS AND MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS

Qualitative: The qualitative component utilized in the SAP policy is the cumulative grade point average (CGPA) as calculated by the Regis University student information system. Only grades and credits earned at Regis University are used to calculate the student’s grade point average. The grade point average is calculated by dividing the total number of grade points earned by the total number of attempted credits. Grade points earned are calculated by multiplying the number of credits for a course by the grade points associated with the grade received. Undergraduate students must maintain a minimum CGPA of at least 2.0 and graduate students must maintain a CGPA of at least 3.0.

Semester Pace: Semester pace is calculated by dividing the number of hours the student has completed for that semester by the number of hours the student has attempted for that semester. Transfer hours are not included in semester pace with the exception of consortium hours. To maintain financial aid eligibility, semester pace must be greater than 0%.

Cumulative Pace: Cumulative pace is calculated by dividing the cumulative number of hours the student has completed by the cumulative number of hours the student has attempted. Undergraduate students must have a minimum cumulative pace of 67% of all hours attempted for the time period under evaluation. Graduate students must have a minimum cumulative pace of 50% of all hours attempted for the time period under evaluation.

Maximum Timeframe: The maximum timeframe is measured in total credit hours attempted. In accordance with federal regulations, the maximum timeframe to complete an undergraduate degree is no more than 150% of the published length of the degree program. For Regis University undergraduates, that level is established at 180 credit hours (120 * 150%). The number of credit hours varies by graduate program to receive a graduate degree at Regis University. For this SAP policy, the maximum time frame for graduate students to complete their program is no more than 200% of the published length of the degree program. The published length of the degree program can be found in the Regis University catalog.

MONITORING

Regis University will measure a consortium students’ eligibility for ALL SAP components at the end of each semester.

CONSEQUENCES FOR FAILING TO MEET MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS OF SAP COMPONENTS

A consortium student who fails to maintain the requirements of Satisfactory Academic Progress as defined above for any of the components will be placed on Financial Aid Warning status for the semester immediately following the semester in which the student failed to meet the requirements and will continue to receive assistance during that semester.

By the end of this Warning semester, the transfer credits for the prior semester along with the academic performance at Regis University will be reviewed and if the requirements of Satisfactory Academic Progress as defined above have not been met, the student will no longer be eligible to receive financial aid at Regis University.

If a student does not attempt any courses during the period immediately following the semester in which the student failed to meet the requirements, the student will no longer be eligible to receive financial aid at Regis University.

Example 1: A student establishes a consortium agreement for the spring semester at Regis University. While awaiting official transcripts from the host school, the student enrolls and begins classes for the summer semester. Once the transcripts are received, the student is evaluated for Satisfactory Academic Progress and it is found that the CGPA requirement was not met. The student is placed on Financial Aid Warning and is allowed to keep financial aid assistance for the summer semester. However, the student will no longer be eligible to receive financial aid for the fall until Satisfactory Academic Progress can be evaluated after the summer to determine if all requirements are met.

Example 2: A student establishes a consortium agreement for the spring semester at Regis University but does not enroll in any classes for the summer semester. Once the transcripts are received, the student is evaluated for Satisfactory Academic Progress and it is found that the CGPA requirement was not met. Since the student is not attending during the summer semester, the student loses eligibility to receive financial aid. The student will not be able to meet the Satisfactory Academic Progress requirements after the summer semester due to not having any attempted work to reevaluate.

REINSTATEMENT OF FINANCIAL AID ELIGIBILITY

There are two methods for regaining financial aid eligibility. First, a student's academic achievements may progress so that the student is now meeting all of the minimum requirements of the SAP components at Regis University. It is the student's responsibility to notify the Financial Aid Office if this achievement is reached. Second, the student may appeal his or her status and the Financial Aid Office may approve an exception to this SAP policy.

Submitting an appeal does not guarantee that financial aid eligibility will be reinstated.

If the student elects to appeal his or her status, an appeal letter is required and the letter must describe the extenuating circumstances that hindered the student from successfully completing classes along with an explanation of how the student plans to resolve the issue(s). Students should be prepared to submit substantiating documentation if requested. If the requested documentation is not submitted, the appeal will be incomplete and the student will not be considered for Financial Aid reinstatement through the appeal process.

If an appeal is granted, the student will be placed on Financial Aid Probation. This probation period allows the student to receive financial aid for one semester after which the student's Satisfactory Academic Progress will be reevaluated.

In some cases, the student will not be able to attain Satisfactory Academic Progress in only one semester. These students will be required to submit and, if approved, follow an Academic Plan that will include certain benchmarks that must be attained in order to continue to receive financial aid funds. The Academic Plan will be defined for each individual student depending on his or her circumstances and when appropriate, in consultation with the student's academic advisor.

If a student that is placed on Financial Aid Probation does not meet all of the minimum requirements for the SAP components within the next semester or fails to meet the benchmarks outlined in the Academic Plan, the student will no longer be eligible to receive financial aid for subsequent semesters.

STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

Students who are aware of learning or other disabilities should immediately contact the Office of Disability Services to determine the appropriate accommodations. A student with a documented disability and functional limitations is still held to the same academic expectations as other students. If the student is registered with the Office of Disability Services and receiving appropriate accommodations, the student should be able to maintain satisfactory academic progress for financial aid eligibility purposes. If any difficulties are encountered, this type of student will be expected to follow the regular appeal procedures. Students who are unaware of their disabilities until difficulties are encountered may be referred to the Office of Disability Services as part of the appeal process.
