Explore Denver Trip

On the second day of your NJSLC experience you will have the opportunity to explore the greater Denver area with your delegation. The following information will help you as a group decide where you would like to go during this time and give you some recommendations on what to do. You will have a NJSLC Volunteer to go with you during this time and will also be there during the exploration to help guide you around.
Surrounded by the stunning Flatiron Mountains and with the crystal clear Boulder Creek steps away, Downtown Boulder is filled with amazing shopping, dining and entertainment options – there is truly something for everyone to enjoy. Eighty-five percent locally owned and operated with over 1000 businesses, Downtown Boulder is well maintained with a clean, inviting and delightfully charming atmosphere. Just 30 miles from Denver, Downtown Boulder offers fun and excitement for locals and visitors alike!

Golden, Colorado is rich with culture, outdoor activities, scenic beauty, thriving businesses, and friendly people, but the City’s origins are largely thanks to another valuable resource – gold. The Wild West is still alive in Golden, Colorado’s territorial capital until 1867. Today it is home to six museums, Coors Brewery, and a downtown filled with shops and restaurants. The famed Red Rocks Park and Amphitheatre is just up the road.
Buffalo Bill Museum and Grave
The Buffalo Bill Museum and Grave, a facility owned and operated by the City and County of Denver, exists to preserve the memory of William F. "Buffalo Bill" Cody. This historic museum is located on top of Look Out Mountain, which offers a great scenic look over Denver and Golden.

Wynkoop Brewing Company
In 1988 LoDo had no ballpark, no valet parking, no farm-to-table restaurants. Just four guys who wanted to make really good beer. Those four guys were John Hickenlooper, Jerry Williams, Mark Schiffler and Russell Schehrer. They opened the first craft Brewery in Denver on Skid Row in the century-old J. S. Brown Mercantile Building. They built a bar by the building’s old vault, and another bar in the back of the building’s expansive showroom. They installed a small brewhouse on the main floor. They placed 22 pool tables on the second floor and called it Wynkoop Billiards.

In 2005, a growing number of galleries on the stretch of Tennyson Street between 38th and 46th helped earn the area "cultural arts district" status. With all of the new restaurants and bars opening on Tennyson these days, though, this funky little Northwest Denver strip looks poised to become an avenue of eats more than art.
Kirk Norlin Gallery
Thirty years of photography have shown Kirk Norlin that the closer you look at nature, a colorful world of abstract design and patterns captures our fascination. Whether the subject be a sea shell, a rock, leaf, fruit or feather - magical images appear even in the most mundane object. Using new digital scanning and printing techniques, Kirk Norlin has been able to capture and magnify these images of nature with more detail than conventional photography.

Spotlight: Parisi's

Parisi’s prides itself on their little piece of Italy that they have recreated. Preparing food became a way to channel what we missed from Italy and what we like to think of as “Edible Nostalgia”. So know that every time you eat something from our menu, there is some story from Italy attached to it. Simplicity and authenticity are our goal, which we hope everyone, from the guy who just wants a great sandwich for lunch to the ultimate foodie, can recognize and appreciate.

Rocky Mountain Chocolate Factory
From our start as a small town chocolate shop in Durango, Colorado to becoming an international chocolatier, it’s always been about more than just chocolate. We believe that the best place to experience Rocky Mountain Chocolate Factory is in one of our retail stores where you’ll find hand-dipped caramel apples, freshly made fudge and dipped strawberries, and larger-than-life chocolates. Whether you need a pick-me-up snack or a decadent gift, our staff is always happy to help you hand pick a treat that is just the thing to make life a little sweeter.

Tattered Cover Book Store
Tattered Cover is a large indie bookstore and cafe with the cozy feel and comfort of smaller bookshops, furnished with comfortable sofas and overstuffed chairs and a world-class newsstand. We sell new and used books, in addition to crisp pre-discounted bargain editions. We are a Denver institution, a community gathering place, and an experience you can’t download.

Spotlight: Illegal Pete’s

Everything at Illegal Pete’s is hand made from real ingredients, by real people. From burritos, bowls, and tacos to chips, cookies, and margaritas, it’s all made right here. No microwaves, no shortcuts. They want you to taste the fresh, quality, handmade ingredients in every bite. That’s why we mix it up. With a few quick stirs, they ensure that you will enjoy your rice, beans, meat, cheese, sour cream, salsa, or whatever else you like, in every single mouthful!
