

Application for Teaching Fellowship in Biology Award

INSTRUCTIONS: If you are interested in applying for a Graduate Teaching Fellowship in Biology award, you must submit a complete application for program admission and these supplemental questions to the Biology Department Program Coordinator, Ariel Wooldridge via email (woold729@regis.edu) by June 30, 2022. Program faculty will review the applicant's entire suite of application materials, including this supplemental application, and will choose the awardee based on merit and promise for success in teaching. The award will only be made to highly qualified applicants. At most, one fellowship per program will be awarded, so applicants should understand that the award is competitive.

First Name:	Last Name:
---------------------------	--------------------------

Describe how specific experiences or qualities you possess will make you successful at teaching an undergraduate biology laboratory section? (300-word maximum)

How would having a collegiate teaching experience enhance your professional career after graduating from Regis? (300-word maximum)