"Our students gain excellent command of the content they will likely see during their first few years of professional school, they learn how to manage their time, hold themselves to a professional standard and hopefully spend time reflecting on how they can do good in the world."

– Jay Campisi, Ph.D., Professor of Biology

Biology Fellowship

During the academic year, two students will be awarded a Graduate Teaching Fellowship in Biomedical Sciences. The students will get the opportunity to teach and assist the Biology Laboratory Manager with preparation for courses. This award also serves as a scholarship, reducing the total cost of the program.

Not Ready for the Full Degree?

We offer a rigorous 9-month graduate certificate that equips you with foundational knowledge in biomedical science, including gross anatomy labs and bioethics courses.
