

Regis University
Denver, Colorado

ONE HUNDRED FIFTY-EIGHTH
COMMENCEMENT
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 15, 2012
DENVER, COLORADO

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear Regis University graduates,

Nearly five centuries ago, the merchants and political leaders of Messina, Sicily, asked the Jesuits to teach their sons in the context of their culture, thus launching an educational legacy that spans the globe today. These 16th century parents knew that the vocational training their children were already receiving needed something more, connecting the world of wealth and politics with higher values, an emphasis on faith, and a more thoughtful approach to education without losing industry competency. The Jesuits had just the combination they sought and it grows increasingly relevant today.

As a Regis University graduate, you are capable of much more than a proficiency in your discipline. You have learned with and from your classmates. You have been challenged to think critically. You have been invited to respond to the needs of your community and to live a faith that does justice. It is crucial that you apply what you've learned to engage the world's needs and questions, as our world today is much smaller and more interdependent than when the first Jesuit college was founded.

You have learned to seek truth and wisdom; to be concerned with a universal view; and to act with compassion and conscience. These are the skills that make you a different kind of graduate and a different kind of professional. When you came to Regis as a student, we knew that God was already at work in you. As a Regis graduate, you know that God is already at work in the world and are called to use your skills and knowledge to make God more visible to others.

Your commencement today joins you to generations of Regis University alumni, as well as those of Jesuit colleges and universities across the country and the world. Today, the legacy started in 1548 with the opening of the first Jesuit college becomes yours.

Congratulations on your graduation and welcome to the alumni family!

Sincerely,

John P. Fitzgibbons, S.J.

President

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Present day academic attire is derived from the long clerical robe (vestimentum clausum, something closed) worn in the classroom by both university faculty and students during the Middle Ages, particularly at Oxford and Cambridge. Since medieval buildings were made of stone and lacked adequate heating, an additional outer garment – a pluvial – originally a loose cape with a hood, also was worn.

During the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries as most European universities passed from ecclesiastical to secular control, the style and color of academic attire was somewhat modified. In colonial American universities, the conservative traditional British system for academic regalia was maintained. By 1893, an inter-collegiate commission was established that determined a uniform code for design and colors for academic attire, which by then was comprised of three pieces: a robe, a hood and a hat (commonly called a mortarboard). American bachelor's gowns are usually black with pointed sleeves; master's gowns are black with long, oblong tapered sleeves. Doctoral robes are also black, although a few other colors (usually gold, purple, dark blue or dark red) have also been adopted. Three velvet bars representing the third degree earned (B.A., M.A., Ph.D.) are applied to the round, bell shaped sleeves of the doctoral robes.

The academic hood derives from the cowl of the monk's habit. Originally it had three functions: head covering (hood), cape and bag of alms which had been collected. Today's hoods are standardized, with the doctoral hoods being four feet long, and the master's hood being three and one half feet long. While bachelor's degree holders once wore a shorter hood, today the hood is usually reserved for wear by persons with a degree beyond the undergraduate level.

The color of the lining of the hood indicates the institution granting the degree. The color of the tassel on the cap and of the velvet edging of the hood, carried forward around the throat, indicates the division of the college or university from which the degree was offered. Gold tassels and black tassels, when worn by faculty, indicate degree rather than academic division or discipline. Academic dress markedly different from the above description indicates a degree from a foreign university.

White – Arts, Letters, Humanities
Golden Yellow – Science, Applied Science
Lemon Yellow – Library Science
Orange – Engineering
Purple – Law
Scarlet – Theology

Green – Medicine
Fawn Beige – Business
Citron – Social Work
Brown – Fine Arts, Architecture
Light Blue – Education
Copper – Economics

Apricot – Nursing
Pink – Music
Dark Blue – Philosophy
Teal – Physical Therapy

MACE

Maces were medieval war clubs. At universities, the mace became a traditional symbol of protection and later evolved as a longer walking stick. The academic mace today is associated with the dignity of the university and the preservation of it as a place where all subjects may be explored.

The mace bearer traditionally is one of the university's senior faculty members. Regis University's mace, made of mahogany and topped with the University seal, also displays important dates in Regis' history.

CHAIN OF OFFICE

The chain of office dates back to the Middle Ages. At his investiture, the mayor of a medieval town was presented with a chain of medallions that represented the guilds working together for the welfare of the town. The chief official of a medieval university held similar authority and thus was honored with a chain of office, but his was composed of the insignia of all the university's colleges.

The Regis University Presidential Chain of Office is worn as part of the president's academic attire at ceremonial occasions such as commencements and convocations. The medallion bears the University's Seal. The five engraved bars rising from the medallion represent different names and respective years by which the University was known throughout its history until becoming Regis University in 1991.

ALPHA SIGMA NU

Alpha Sigma Nu is the national honor society of the Jesuit Colleges and Universities in the United States. The society was founded in 1915 at Marquette University to honor a select number of students each year on the basis of scholarship, loyalty and service. Alpha Sigma Nu merged with Gamma Pi Epsilon in 1973, and now has active chapters on all 28 Jesuit collegiate campuses and two theological schools in the United States and at Sogang University in Seoul, Korea, initiating some 1,300 new members each year.

Alpha Sigma Nu is unique among honor societies in that it seeks to identify the most promising students of the Jesuit schools, students who demonstrate an intelligent appreciation of and commitment to the ideals of Jesuit higher education: intellectual, social, moral and religious. The following is a list of December 2012 inductees who are members of Alpha Sigma Nu, one of the highest honors that can be given on a Jesuit campus.

ST. IGNATIUS OF LOYOLA, FOUNDER OF THE SOCIETY OF JESUS

Iñigo Lopez de Loyola, who later took the name Ignatius, was the youngest son of a nobleman of the mountainous Basque region of northern Spain. Trained in the courtly manner of the time of King Ferdinand, he dreamed of the glories of knighthood and wore his sword and breastplate with pride.

Ignatius was a man on the edge of two worlds. When he was born in 1491, the Middle Ages were just ending and Europe was entering the Renaissance.

Europe of the late 15th century was a world of discovery and invention. European explorers sailed west to the Americas and south to Africa, and scholars uncovered the buried civilizations of Greece and Rome. The printing press fed a new hunger for knowledge among a growing middle class. It was the end of chivalry and the rise of a new humanism. It was a time of radical change, social upheaval and war.

In a quixotic attempt in 1521 to defend the Spanish border fortress of Pamplona against the French artillery, Ignatius' right leg was shattered by a cannon ball. His French captors, impressed by Ignatius' courage, carried him on a litter across Spain to his family home at Loyola where he began a long period of convalescence. During that time, he read several religious books, the only reading material readily available. These books and the isolation of the recovery period brought about a conversion that led to the founding of the Jesuits. Ignatius began to pray. He fasted, did penance and works of charity, and dedicated himself to God. He decided to study for the priesthood, and encountered problems with the Spanish Inquisition, primarily because he was presuming to teach people spiritual doctrine without a theology degree.

As a student in Paris he drew a small band of friends to himself and directed them in extended prayer and meditation according to his Spiritual Exercises. After further studies, the first Jesuits were ordained to the Catholic priesthood in Venice and offered themselves in service to Pope Paul III. In 1540, Paul III approved the Institute of the Society of Jesus. Ignatius was elected General Superior and served in that post until his death in 1556 at the age of 65.

Lord, teach me to be generous;
Teach me to serve you as you deserve;
To give and not to count the cost;
To fight and not to heed the wounds;
To toil and not to seek for rest;
To labor and not ask for reward, save that of knowing that I am doing your will.

*A Prayer of St. Ignatius of Loyola
The First Jesuit*
